

HANDPRINT FLOWER CARDS

Send a message to loved ones that you cannot be near at this time. Or, make some cards and send them to your local nursing home.

Not only are these Paper Handprint Flower Cards super simple to assemble {even for a beginner crafter} but they are really inexpensive and have that handmade touch, that makes them oh-so impressive too!

DIY Flower Card Craft Supplies:

Colored Cardstock {most importantly GREEN}

Pre-folded Cardstock Cards

Ad Tech Permanent Crafter's Tape Adhesive

Basic Craft Scissors

Pen or Pencil

optional embellishments such as stickers, glitter glue, rhinestones etc.

Directions:

First things first – pick a hand!

Instruct your child to lay THAT hand, flatly on some colored cardstock.

Take the pencil {or pen} and trace around your child's hand to make the flower.

When done, lift up their hand and trim out the traced handprint design from the paper.

Repeat the above steps for each flower card you want to make today.

Next up – grab some green cardstock and cut out a simple stem & leaf shape for your flower design.

Repeat for each card you are making.

Next grab your remaining cardstock and trim out a rectangular piece that is slightly smaller and will fit on the front of your pre-made cardstock card.

Go ahead and use your adhesive tape to secure that piece to the front of your card.

To finish your Handprint Flower Cards, secure your handprint cutout {the flower bud} and stem cutout to the front of your card to give the look of a flower.

At this point in time you can also add other embellishments like glitter and rhinestones, before gifting away!!!

Thanks to our friends at <https://www.gluedtomycraftsblog.com> for this fun project